CHILD HEALTH AND WELLNESS CATALYST AWARDS

We are proud to announce the results from the Child Health and Wellness Grand Challenge Catalyst competition – the first round of funding since Child Health and Wellness was announced as a research priority of the University of Calgary. Enabled by the Office of the Vice President Research and Alberta Children's Hospital Foundation, these awards kickstart and propel innovative and interdisciplinary teams to address the Child Health and Wellness Grand Challenges.

ACHRI received 21 applications for the Branch Award stream and 12 applications for the Seedling Award stream. We are so impressed and inspired by the incredible submissions from Child Health and Wellness teams across the academy and our wider community. Please stay tuned for the next round of CHW funding this summer. A huge thank you to our large team of academic and community reviewers who evaluated the proposals.

Congratulations to the PI awardees and their outstanding teams:

Branch Catalyst Awards: Drs. Brent Hagel and Myriam Hemberger
Seedling Catalyst Awards: Drs. Lindsay Crowshoe, Linda Duffett-Leger, Steven Greenway, Simon Hirota, Carly McMorris and Jennifer Thull-Freedman.

Watch for our follow up story in UToday.
Congratulations to our talented researchers recognized by the Cumming School of Medicine as 2020 Celebration of Excellence awardees. We are so proud of our powerhouse community of child health and wellness researchers!
